Special Educational Needs and Disability Policy

This policy has been formulated with regard to the Special Educational Needs and Disability Regulations 2014, SEN Code of Practice: 0 to 25 Years 2015, Statutory Guidance on Supporting Pupils with Medical Conditions 2014, Teacher Standards 2012, the Equality Act 2010, the Children and Families Act 2014 and the regulations governing JCQ and Examination Access Arrangements and the school's Admission Policy.

1. Introduction: What are special educational needs?

A child or young person has special educational needs if they have a learning difficulty or disability which calls for special educational provision to be made for him or her.

A child of compulsory school age or a young person has a learning difficulty or disability if he or she has:

- a significantly greater difficulty in learning than the majority of others of the same age, or
- a disability which prevents or hinders him or her from making use of facilities of a kind generally provided for others of the same age.

A child under compulsory school age has special educational needs if he or she is likely to fall within the definition paragraph above when they reach compulsory school age or would do so if special educational provision were not made for them.

Someone is disabled under the Equality Act 2010 if they have a physical or mental impairment that has a 'substantial' and 'long-term' negative effect on their ability to carry out normal daily activities.

'Substantial' is more than minor or trivial – e.g. it takes much longer than it usually would to complete a daily task like getting dressed.

'Long-term' means the impairment has or is likely to last at least 12 months or for the rest of the person's life – e.g. a breathing condition that develops and becomes a long term underlying medical condition.

The Equality Act 2010 identifies the fact that some pupils with disabilities may also have learning difficulties that require additional educational provision. However, not all pupils defined as disabled will require this provision. A pupil with asthma or diabetes, for example, may not have special educational needs, but may still have rights under the Equality Act. The school assesses each pupil as required and, wherever possible makes the appropriate provision based on a pupil's identified needs.

Specifically, under the Equality Act, the school has a duty to make reasonable adjustments in respect of pupils who are disabled where any provision, criterion or practice ("PCP") applied by or on behalf of the school places the disabled pupil at a substantial disadvantage. The duty also requires schools to provide auxiliary aids (such as adapted keyboards or other equipment or the provision of other support) where this would alleviate or avoid any disadvantage faced by a disabled pupil at the school. In such circumstances, the school is under a duty to take such steps as are reasonable to avoid the substantial disadvantage, such as changing the relevant PCP or providing the auxiliary aid.

2. Aims

We have a fundamental belief, underpinning this policy, in high quality teaching and high expectations for all children and young people.

Our aims are:

- To create an environment that meets the needs of each pupil with SEND and to monitor and evaluate the sites and resources in order to achieve this.
- To ensure that through reasonable adjustments, all pupils, including those with SEND, have full access to the school curriculum where appropriate and to have equal opportunities.
- To provide advice and guidance to academic and pastoral staff so that they are able to support pupils with special educational needs, either verbally, via inset training or on ISAMs.
- To make explicit the expectations for all partners in the process.
- To identify the roles and responsibilities of staff in providing for pupil's special educational needs so that pupils attain their potential.
- To ensure that parents are involved in supporting their child's education.
- To ensure that pupils have a voice in this process.
- To encourage on-going professional development for academic, pastoral and specialist support staff;
- To ensure safeguarding procedures are in place so that all pupils will be protected from harm and neglect.
- To ensure that pupils with medical conditions are supported to enable their maximum inclusion in school.
- To support EAL Students with extra classes where appropriate.

3. Objectives

- To identify, at the earliest opportunity, barriers to learning and participation for all pupils through assessment and graduated provision (see Appendix (i) Whole School Graduated Approach and also Curriculum and Assessment Policies)
- To ensure in the early years that there is no delay in making any necessary special educational provision. Delay at this stage can give rise to learning difficulty and subsequently to loss of self-esteem, frustration in learning and to behavioural difficulties.
- To work within the guidance provided by the SEND Code of Practice 2015.
- To offer screening and assessment in-house in order to gain a comprehensive picture of needs (a reasonable charge is made for this service)
- To use the continuous monitoring of pupil progress to aid identification and to maintain the responsibility of all staff towards progress of pupils with SEND
- To ensure that every pupil experiences success in their learning and achieves to the highest possible standard
- To enable all pupils to participate in lessons fully and effectively
- To value and encourage the contribution of all pupils in the life of the school
- To work in partnership with parents so that they take an active role in their child's education
- To involve the pupils in the decision making process regarding their education
- To communicate with the Governing Bodies to enable them to fulfil their monitoring role with regard to the policy statement for SEND
- To work closely with external support agencies, where appropriate, to support the need of individual pupils
- To ensure that all staff have access to advice, training and professional development to support quality teaching and learning for all pupils
- To ensure that all staff know where to find SEN/EAL information on pupils on ISAMS

4. Roles & Responsibilities

The Special Educational Needs and Disability Co-ordinator (SENDCo), in collaboration with the Headmaster and Governing Body (with one Governor nominated to be responsible for SEND) takes responsibility for the operation of the SEND Policy and the co-ordination of the special needs provision, working closely with staff, parents/carers and other agencies.

The SENDCo also provides professional guidance to colleagues to ensure high quality teaching for pupils with SEND.

All staff have responsibility for the progress of pupils with SEND and will therefore be involved as necessary to support the needs of the child or young person, including class teachers, subject teachers, teaching assistants, HoDs and Heads of Sections. All those who work with young children should be alert to the emerging difficulties and respond early.

Pam Brown (The King's School, Canterbury), Sarah Joseph (IC), and Emma McCoubrie (JKS) currently hold the SENDCo post in the respective schools.

Camilla Titterton is Acting SENDCo in Pam Brown's absence at KSC.

Their responsibilities include:

- Ensuring that screening and tracking procedures are in place for identification.
- Maintaining the register for pupils with SEND using a graduated approach.

- Managing a team of Learning Enhancement/Learning Support staff that includes specialist teachers, teaching assistants, and specialist assessors.
- Organising support sessions for pupils as required.

- The SENDCos from The King's School, Canterbury and The Junior King's School, Canterbury to meet at least twice a term to co-ordinate policies and provision. Termly contact between KSC and the IC SENDCo.
- Review whether any adjustments are necessary for pupils with a disability. In particular, consider whether disabled pupils are placed at a substantial disadvantage in relation to their educational provision or the services that the school provides and identify and steps that can be taken to avoid such disadvantage. This includes the provision of auxiliary aids.

The duties of the Governing Body are set out in the SEN Code of Practice 2014.

5. Procedures

The Admissions Policy includes provision for children and young people with SEND to have equal opportunity to participate. Best endeavours will be made to meet the individual needs of a child with SEND.

The school will ensure that the curriculum, site and facilities are fully accessible to children and young people with SEND within the constraints of a World Heritage Site and historic listed buildings. Provision may include:

- Improving access to the site and facilities as far as is reasonable through physical changes to the building and by providing extra resources (see Accessibility Plan attached).
- Appropriate and effective classroom management, with planning and differentiation to meet the individual pupil's needs.
- On-going consultation with parents and pupil, establishing the appropriate programme of support.
- The establishment, development and maintaining of links with external agencies and the local authority.
- Alerting all staff to the needs of the child or young person, providing appropriate guidance with training and/or literature.
- Ensuring that the pupil is able to develop appropriate practices for the recording of information e.g. laptop use, dictation software, text reading technology.
- Alternative sources of information.
- Organising access arrangements for internal and external exams.

6. Evaluation

Any pupil identified by the school as having a special educational need (as outlined above) or disability under the Equality Act 2010 should be the subject of regular reviews.

The SENDCo convenes the meeting. The review must:

- Include current information from teachers, parents, pupils and external agencies.
- Assess the pupil's progress
- Judge the effectiveness of the Provision Map/IEP or EHC Plan or any given specialist involvement
- Update information
- Plan future action and set new targets

Reviews should continue to take place until such time as the SENDCo determines that they are no longer required. This decision will be taken in consultation with other parties including relevant medical professionals and the parents of the pupil.

7. Support Services

Parents are advised on a wide range of available services and advice, including the Local Offer provided by the Local Authority.

- The school has a Learning Enhancement Department with qualified specialist teachers.
- The school may recommend the services of external agencies such as speech and language therapists, occupational therapists, physiotherapists, CAMHS etc.
- The school may buy in screening, advisory and back-up services from a variety of professional bodies and individuals e.g. the specialist teaching service.

- Support for parents in the choice of the next school and for the transfer is offered by the Headmasters, Deputy Heads, Housemasters/Housemistresses and SENDCo.
- Support for students whether transferring from JKS to King's, from the IC to King's or from King's to Further Education.
- To ensure firmer links with the Admissions office here, Head of Prep Liaison and the Prep Schools themselves to ensure that pupils are placed with due care given to any specialist needs and in keeping with the Academic traditions of the school. To ensure that we are given to correct information to allow for this.
- To keep a check on Prep schools that send us children without appropriate background information with the Admissions office. To encourage them to send us all relevant information to ensure the child has a smooth transition with the correct support in place from the beginning.
- Transfer of information is arranged with parental consent.

9. Complaints

- Complaints about SEND will follow the school's Complaints Procedures outlined in the Complaints Policy.
